DESIGNER

Winslet Oo of Renozone

1 Living Room

While the home boasted impressive 4.5m ceilings, it lacked personality and needed more storage for this family of six. Fulfilling the family's request for a bright and luxurious aesthetic, their designer crafted a tiered ceiling to accentuate the height of the space, installed a showstopping marble-patterned feature wall, added trim details to give plain surfaces more character and dressed the room with dramatic curtains.

2 Dining Zone

In the dining area, a special built-in was created for this space combining closed storage, display zones for the homeowners' beloved items, as well as a dining bench. Mirrored panels at the back of the unit reflect the rest of the room, creating a brighter and more spacious appearance.

3 Primary Bedroom

In the lofty bedroom, a cosier effect was achieved by surrounding the bed with custom cabinetry which holds the homeowners' watches and handbags and includes a niche that acts as a bedside table. A subtle wallpaper behind the bedframe adds a touch of texture and sheen, enhancing the room's glam factor.

4 Study

Designed for productivity, the workstation features a sizeable worktop, plenty of compartments to hold supplies and documents, as well as a nifty whiteboard to quickly jot down reminders and thoughts.

5 Kids' Room

To comfortably accommodate two kids in this small room, the designer took advantage of the room's tall ceilings and proposed a bunk bed with padded headboards and a translucent guard rail on the second deck to let light pass through. Constructed out of solid plywood and clad with glossy marble-look laminates, the unit includes alcoves for the young ones to display their favourite toys and books while providing plenty of closed storage to hide clutter.
